

Eden Farm Limited – Gender Pay Gap Reporting

Eden Farm's gender pay gap of 10.4% is significantly under the national average of 17.7%

We are confident that the gap's are representative of the roles which men and women work and not a factor of men and women being paid differing amounts for the same roles

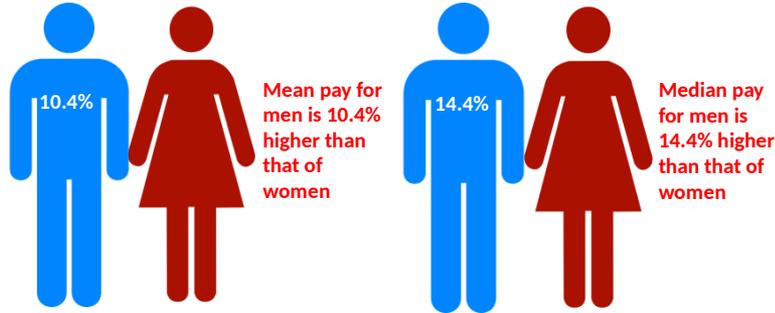

As we operate a lean business model the few senior positions within the business are occupied by men resulting in the pay gaps shown opposite

Our sales force are incentivised by annual targets and are therefore able to achieve higher rates of pay based on performance. These incentives are available to all sales representatives irrespective of gender

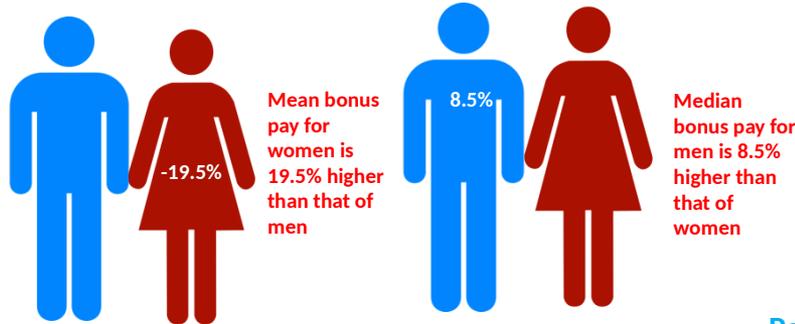

*a negative number indicates women on average earn more than men

Gender Bonus Pay Gap

Eden Farm Limited is committed to provide equal opportunities to all current and future staff, irrespective of gender.

We offer active support to women returning to work from maternity leave and have a number of training schemes being undertaken by men and women alike to promote development of women into leadership roles within the business.

Proportion of Men and Women Paid a Bonus

The median bonus gap is influenced by the proportion of blue collar roles within Eden Farm which are predominantly filled by male staff. These roles attract less bonus than sales and white collar roles within head office

The median bonus gap is also impacted by this, with the male population receiving a smaller proportion of bonus than the female. This is also impacted by seniority of males within the organisation
